Attachments: GE Bombings PRESS RELEASE Dec 16 2010.doc; Explosionsfacts.doc

Greetings all. The information here – about Georgia requesting Russian help in the recent bombings case -- is embargoed until it is officially released in a statement by the Interior Ministry in Tbilisi, which is scheduled about 4 p.m. local time there on Thursday, December 16, or about 7 a.m. ET. The statement to be released is attached and below; also attached is a fact sheet on the explosions put out last week by Interior..

On background, and just to add a bit of elevation and context: Georgia's outreach to Russia requesting help in the case continues Tbilisi's efforts to engage Moscow in a mutually respectful dialogue to peacefully settle their differences. This includes Georgia's very detailed engagement plan for improving ties between Georgia and the regions of Abkhazia and South Ossetia, its recent pledge not to use force in resolving the dispute with Russia over those regions, and the cooperative tone President Saakashvili adopted when the bombing arrests were first announced last week. The Saakashvili administration is trying very hard to lower the temperature with Russia and get relations back on a path of cooperation. I hope you'll consider this if and when you write about Thursday's announcement.

If you would like additional information or comment, please contact deputy interior minister Eka Zguladze at +995.77.900.999. And I of course am available if you need any assistance.

Hope you have a safe holiday and manage to get some time with your families. Cheers.....John Anderson/Podesta
